The Home Edit

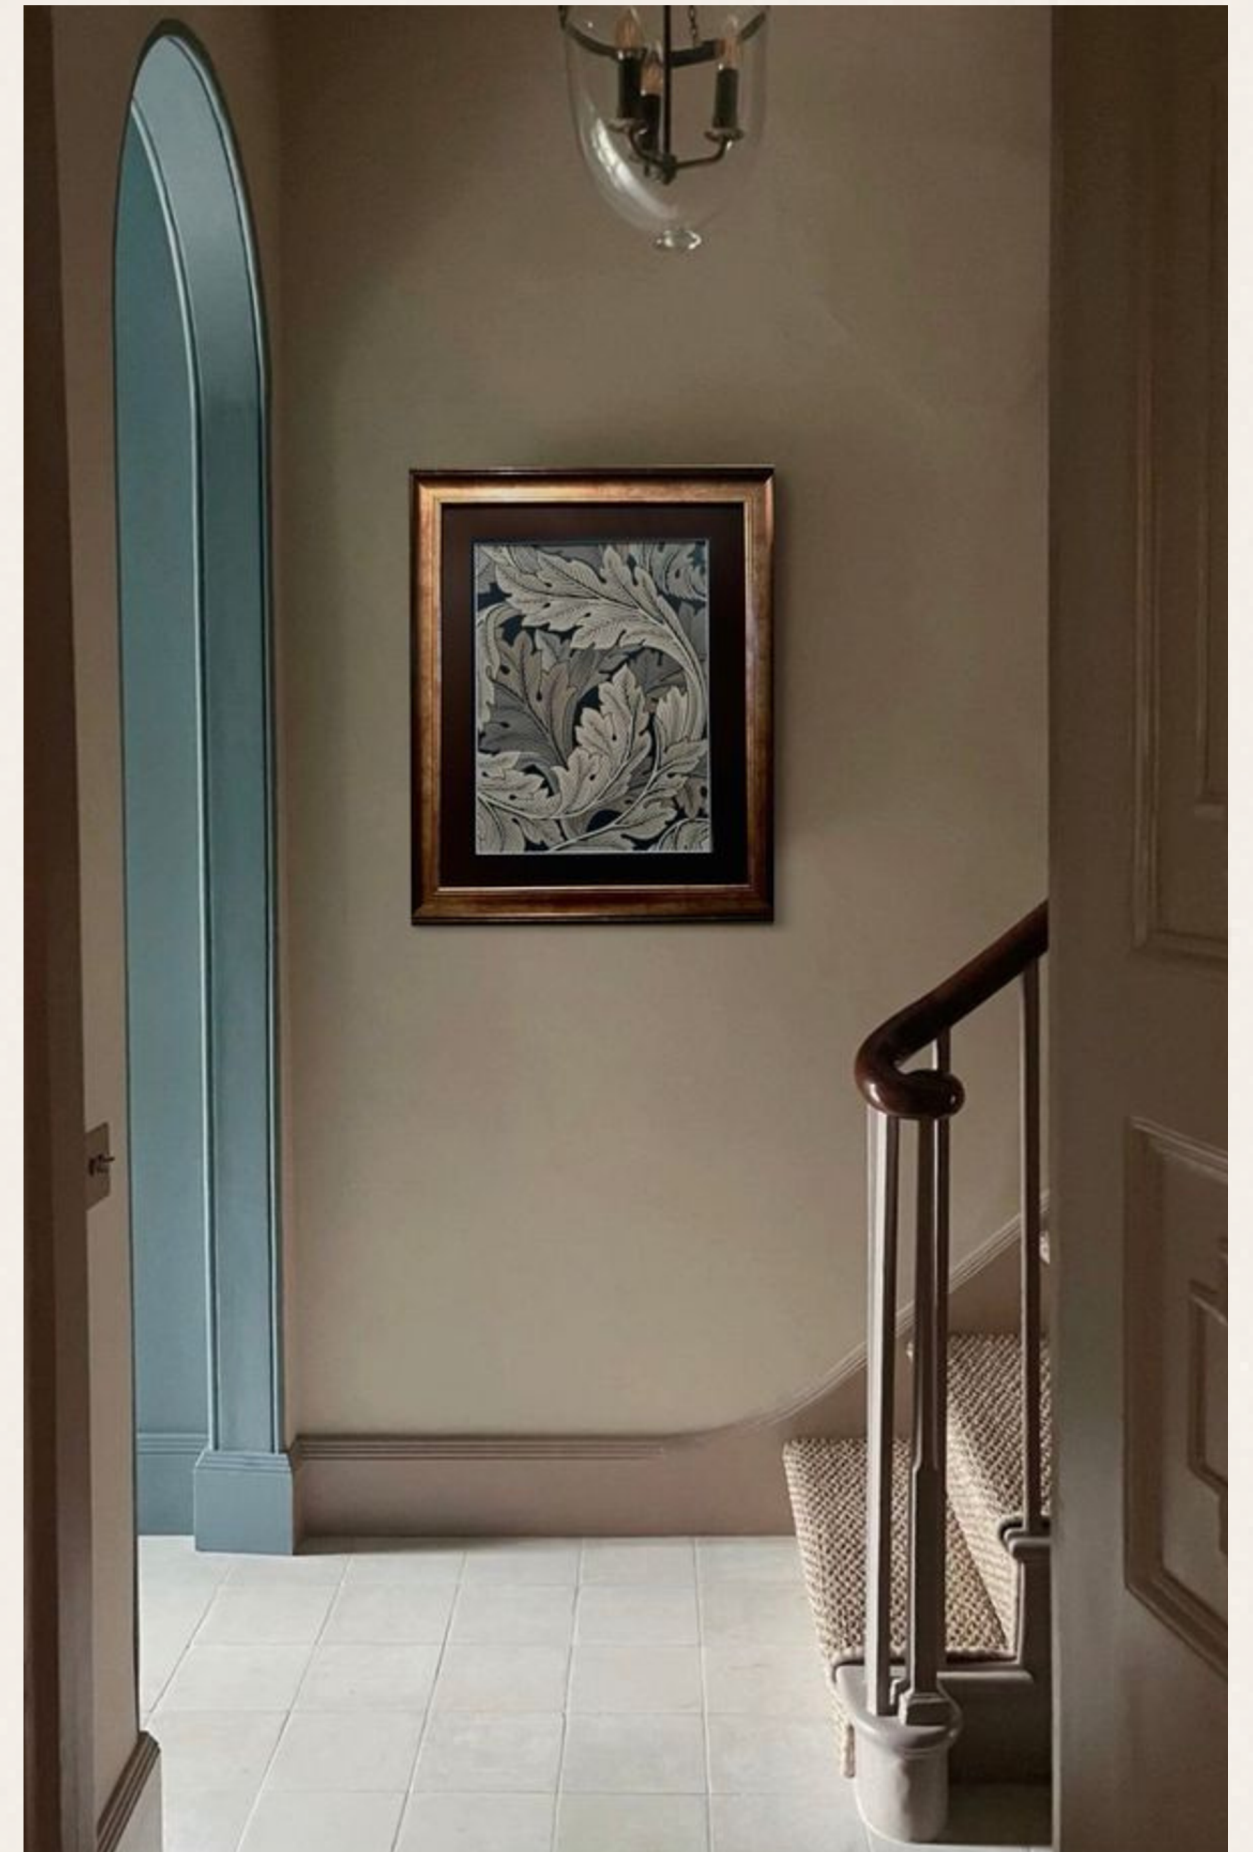

We all want our homes to be places we enjoy being. Spaces that feel calm, beautiful and comfortable to live in – somewhere we feel at ease, where life works practically, and where our character and style naturally belong. Through a considered design process, The Home Edit brings clarity and direction to your space, refining layout, atmosphere and aesthetic so that your home feels more harmonious, more practical and ultimately a joy to live in.

REALISING POTENTIAL

I'm a multi-creative with a track record of proven successes across interior design, hospitality, branding and creative direction. In both homes and commercial spaces, I enjoy transforming environments to feel even more welcoming, characterful and quietly beautiful.

At the heart of my work is an eye for aesthetic coherence – an instinct for detail, balance and hidden potential.

Often the most powerful improvements come not from replacing everything, but from thoughtful editing – introducing just the right elements in the right places.

WHAT YOU WILL RECEIVE

After the Home Edit, you will have:

- a clear design direction for the spaces we review
- curated moodboards capturing the aesthetic and atmosphere
- guidance on layout and furniture placement
- colour, material and texture suggestions
- recommendations for pieces worth investing in
- practical next steps for implementing the changes

Where possible, we work creatively with pieces you already own, editing and repositioning them thoughtfully before introducing anything new.

BUDGET

During the Home Edit process, we will agree a budget for improvements.

Any pieces recommended or sourced will sit within this range, ensuring suggestions feel appropriate, achievable and worthwhile.

I would love to explore how the Home Edit might help create a home you truly enjoy living in.
